Part of the Norfolk Local Offer for Learners with Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND)

Welcome to our SEND Information Report (Also known as the School Local Offer) which is part of the Norfolk Local Offer for learners with Special Educational Needs and/or Disabilities (SEND). All schools have a legal duty to publish information on their website about the implementation of their policy for pupils with SEND. This information will be updated annually. Our Approach to Teaching Learners with SEND:

At Nelson Infant School we are committed to working together with all members of the school community to meet the needs (academic, social, emotional, behavioural and physical) of our children. Our aim is that all pupils, and those with Special Educational Needs and/or Disabilities (SEND), will have the opportunity to reach their full potential and make excellent progress in a positive and stimulating environment.

At different times in their school life a child may have a Special Educational Need. The Code of Practice defines SEN as follows:

“A child or young person has SEND if they have a learning difficulty or disability which calls for special educational provision to be made for them. A child of compulsory school age or a young person has a learning difficulty or disability if they:

- a. Have a significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of others of the same age, or
- b. Have a disability which prevents or hinders them from making use of educational facilities of a kind generally provided for others of the same age in mainstream schools or mainstream post-16 institutions.”

Our SEND profile at Nelson Infant School for 2020-2021 shows that we currently have 20% of children identified as having SEND, and 15% of these children with SEND have an Education Health and Care Plan (EHCP).

Our children with SEND are made up of the following groups (children may fit into more than one category):

- 73% linked to Cognitive and Learning
- 54% linked to Communication and Interaction
- 48% linked to Physical and Sensory.
- 48% Social, emotional and mental health needs.

There can be many reasons for learners to need additional support with their learning. These may include absences from school, moving schools, English as an Additional Language (EAL) or other worries which can be a barrier to their learning. We understand that children who experience these barriers to learning are vulnerable. If your child is not making expected progress, despite quality first teaching, it may be that they do have a Special Educational Need (SEN).

Our School Offer:

The purpose of this Information Report is to enable parents and carers to see more clearly what is available for children at Nelson Infant School.

It takes the form of answers to questions that are frequently asked by parents and carers.

If you would like any further information please refer to the contacts section at the end of the document.

The glossary at the end explains some of the references and terms you will come across as you read.

How will the curriculum in class be adapted to support my child?	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Whether your child has SEND or not, the class teacher, supported by a Teaching Assistant (TA), is responsible for matching lessons and differentiated plans to the individual needs of the children. Quality first teaching in class will provide activities appropriate to their level or learning. Planning is targeted to the specific needs of individual children.• Teachers and TAs work together to provide a combination of whole class, small group and individual support within lessons.• Teachers use many different strategies to adapt access to the curriculum. These might include visual timetables, lap-tops, I-pads, pencil grips, social stories or positive behaviour reward systems amongst others.

How does Nelson Infant School know if children need extra help?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Throughout the year the children’s progress is monitored against age related expectations. Teachers are quick to notice and raise any concerns. • If a child’s lack of progress or their well-being, safety or behaviour becomes a barrier to their learning then this will be addressed. • Teachers will discuss their concerns with the SENDCo and also with you, the parents/ carers.
What should I do if I think my child may have a Special Educational Need?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • There is an ‘open door’ policy at Nelson Infant School, so if you have any concerns about the progress of your child you can arrange to speak to the class teacher at the end of the day. You don’t have to wait until the Parent’s/Carer’s Meetings. • Alternatively, you can make an appointment to see the SENDCo, Mrs Jenny Wenn.
What support is available in addition to the learning in the classroom?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • If your child is identified as having needs ‘additional to and different from’ those of the class then extra support will be required. Interventions (activities outside the classroom, or extra support within the classroom) may be suggested. This will be discussed with you and a Learning Plan with targets will be put into place for your child. • At Nelson Infant School we have a skilled team of TAs who work with individuals or small groups on these interventions to provide the extra support needed by children with SEND. • This year our team will provide some of the following interventions: individual and group activities in the Orchard Class, Talk Boost, Early Talk Boost, speech and language activities recommended by Speech and Language Therapists, additional RWI phonics activities, THRIVE and Write from the Start.
How will Staff know what progress my child is making?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Whether in class or during extra interventions, your child’s progress is the responsibility of their class teacher. This will also be monitored by the Teacher/TA working with them and overseen by the SENDCo. • At the start of any intervention a baseline assessment will be done to give us a starting level for your child. This will help us to identify gaps, plan and deliver the program and monitor their learning. School has implemented the use of NAPs to ensure small steps progress are continually monitored, and accurate next steps are planned for. • All interventions are recorded on a school Provision Map. This allows us to share and promote consistent good practice.

How will I know what progress my child is making?

- Your child's Learning Plan will be updated each term and shared with you.
- Progress will also be discussed more formally with you at our half termly Parent/Carer meetings.
- At other times, you are always welcome to discuss your child's progress informally with your class teacher.

What support is there available for my child's overall well-being?

- We are a school that values the social and emotional development of each child. We focus on this development through Assemblies, THRIVE circle time discussions, and by embedding THRIVE philosophies throughout our school. We have a Child of the Day every day, during which they receive compliments from staff and pupils. We have a focus on bullying during National 'Anti-Bullying Week'.
- If it is appropriate, your child may be invited to be part of the Orchard Class. In this class children are given additional help with their social and emotional needs through Brick Club and THRIVE activities.
- School employs a Family Support Worker to support children and their families, sometimes giving strategies that can be developed at home and in school.

How can Nelson Infant school support my child's medical or physical needs?

- The Staff at Nelson Infant School have experience of supporting children with a variety of physical and medical needs. These include severe allergies, visual impairments, ASD and ADHD.
- Details of pupils' medical and physical needs are kept on a register by the School Office and shared with class teachers. These are regularly updated.
- If your child has a severe allergy the whole school staff will be aware of it. Epi-pen training is received from a trained Nurse where appropriate.
- In these cases a detailed Care Plan will be drawn up, in consultation with you, and any other relevant professionals, to ensure your child is safe.
- When appropriate, training will be undertaken to enable us to support your child's physical or medical need.
- The school has facilities to make it accessible to all, including a disabled toilet, ramps, a hoist for disabled swimmers, and a hearing loop system can be put into a classroom.

So which specialist services and expertise can be accessed by the school?	These are some of the specialists and agencies which the school has used and can use to support your child when appropriate: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Educational Psychologist • Advisory Support Teacher • Speech & Language Therapist • Parent partnership • School Nurse • CAMHS (Child and Adolescent Mental Health Service) • Occupational Therapist • The Short Stay School • Physiotherapist • School 2 School Support (Advice from Specialist Schools) • Traveller Support • The Virtual School (Support for children with a Sensory Loss) • Access Through Technology (Providing Equipment to support children to communicate and learn) • Autism Support • Behaviour Support • Social Services
How will my child be included in extra curriculum activities and school trips?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The school carries out risk assessments for all children including those with SEND before any school trip. • Our policy is to include all children unless there is a risk to their safety and/or the safety of others. Parent or carers may be asked to attend if necessary. • All children learn to play the ukulele at free sessions as part of our curriculum enrichment. • Wherever possible, all children will be able to access after school clubs within the limits of spaces available.
How will Nelson Infant School prepare my child for joining the school and/or transition to other schools?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Before your child arrives with us the staff will read all available files and reports about your child and note any special needs or concerns. They will liaise with you to make the start of school as smooth as possible. • When transferring to a new school we will contact the school and discuss your child with the new teacher. If your child has SEN or a medical or a physical additional need, then this too will be discussed with the new teacher and the SENDCo (with your permission). All school records will be passed on. • We are committed to working with parents/carers to plan transition. Some of the ways we support children with transition include: extra class/school visits, social stories, transition booklets containing photos, and meetings with the next teacher.

Interventions - Additional learning activities which take place within the classroom or in a smaller space outside the classroom, which support children with SEND.

Provision Map - This describes the interventions and actions that we undertake at Nelson Infant School to support learners with SEND across the year groups. We modify the provision map regularly as it changes every year.

SEND – Special Educational Needs or Disabilities. Paragraphs 6.27 – 6.35 of the 0-25 SEND Code of Practice set out four areas of SEND:

- Communication and interaction – for example, where children and young people have speech, language and communication barriers which make it difficult for them to make sense of language or to understand how to communicate effectively and appropriately with others.
- Cognition and learning – for example, where children and young people learn at a slower pace than others their age, have difficulty in understanding parts of the curriculum, need extra support with organisation and memory skills, or have a specific barrier to learning affecting one particular part of their learning performance, such as in literacy or numeracy.
- Social, emotional and mental health – for example, where children and young people need extra support in managing their relationships with other people, are withdrawn, or if they exhibit distressed behaviours that may hinder their and other children's learning, or that have an impact on their own health and wellbeing.
- Sensory and/or physical needs – for example, children and young people with visual and/or hearing impairments, or a physical need that means they must have additional ongoing support and equipment.

Some children and young people may have SEND that covers more than one of these areas.

SENDCo/SENCo - Special Educational Needs and Disabilities Co-ordinator - A SENDCO is a qualified teacher in a school who has responsibility for co-ordinating SEND provision. They have to have qualified with the National Award for SENDCos within 3 years of taking up the post.
